Dear Sir/Madame:

Good day!

Hope this letter finds you well. I am writing to express my strong interest in the position of Graphic Designer in your company. I have learned that you are looking for someone proficient in using graphic design software to help you build your business.

Just to give you an overview of my work credentials, I am a professional Graphic Designer for over 12 years, specialized in Book Cover Design, Corporate, and Advertisement ideas. Over the past years, I was employed with various U.S. based publishing and advertising companies and was privileged to handle different accounts and clients which helped me broaden and honed my skills as a designer. Through my work experience, I was also able to adopt different techniques to help me master my field and be more efficient. Being able to handle different accounts also helped me master different graphic design software, to name a few, Adobe Photoshop, Illustrator, Indesign, Aftereffects, Premiere, etc.

As for my educational background, I completed a total of 10 years for elementary and secondary levels. After which I was enrolled at AMA Computer College and took a Bachelor of Science in Computer Engineering. My College credential was evaluated by WES (World Education System) and gave a Canadian Equivalency Summary of Secondary school diploma and a post-secondary-study on Computer Technology. I decided to take up further study. I recently finished my Art and Design Foundation Program at George Brown University. I believe that being up to date with the latest trend and technology in my chosen field of graphic design would help me advance my skills and bring it to the next level.

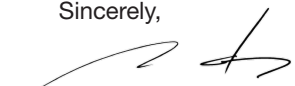

With the new learnings I gained from George Brown College backed by my 12 years of work experience, I am confident that I have the right skills plus my determine, hard-work and strong work ethics would make me a great fit for your company. I do not stop by learning from others or my experience, I also push my self further by doing self-study and my research to help me attain my goals and be more self-sufficient.

I am looking forward to being a part of your company and be one of the contributors to its success. I don't mind starting from the bottom and work my way up to the top. I am not just to be a designer but someone that would hold a position in helping the company reached its full potential and its goals. I believe that in working hard for what you want will make success more meaningful.

I am thrilled with the idea of working for your company. I am more than happy and available should you need to schedule an interview.
